IT WAS WELL DONE

The Annual Police and Fire Parade.

INSPECTED BY THE MAYOR

And the Police and Fire Commissioners, Who Are Enthusiastic in Praising the Boys' Appearance.

Yesterday was as near a perfect day for the inspection by the police and fire commissioners as could have been desired. The procession formed with the right resting on Summer street, near West Bridge street. Captain Johnson, mounted, led the array. Following him was the Polish band. Then came forty-four policemen, the first division of twenty-four being headed by Superintendent Eastman and commanded by Lieutenant Hurley, and the second division, composed of twenty of the "bunch," under command of Sergeant Webb. The covered patrol wagon, the ambulance and the small wagon came next. This comprised the display of the police department.

The fire department was headed by Marshal Leonard, S. W. Baxter and Henry Bettinghouse, all mounted. The procession was composed of hook and ladder No. 1, hose wagon No. 1, steamer and hose cart from engine house No. 6, hook and ladder truck No. 4, hose cart

No. 2, steamer and hose wagon No. 8, chemical, hose wagon and steamer No. 3, hook and ladder No. 4 and steamer and hose cart No. 5. The board of police and fire commissioners, Mayor Stuart and other city officials in hacks brought up the rear.

The parade started promptly at 1:30 and proceeded down West Bridge to Canal, and through Canal and Monroe streets to Fulton street park, where the inspection was held.

Inspected by the officials, Lieutenant Hurley's party, forty-four in number, and the firemen, numbering seventy-six, were drawn up in line and inspected by the officials.

As the parade passed through the principal streets the fine appearance of the men and apparatus was commented upon on every side. Even the horses seemed to realize that it was a gala day and were on their mettle.

The fine appearance of the policemen in their dress suits, white helmets and gloves, and their perfect discipline were objects of much admiring comment. The firemen also received their share of admiration, and they were deserving of it all.

After the inspection had taken place the officials visited every engine house in the city and inspected the men in their quarters. At every house the members of the department "went through the motions" for the edification of the "city dads."

The city officials were extremely well pleased with the appearance made at the parade, and it was unanimously voted the best one the two departments had ever had.

Bound Over for Trial.
Morris A. Burnham, the man arrested for larceny from Trowbridge's saloon and who jumped his bail, was arrested yesterday morning. He pleaded guilty in police court and was bound over for trial in the present term of the superior court.

ASK AN INJUNCTION.
A Lively Church Row on the West Side.

The trustees of the Norwegian Evangelical church have commenced suit in the circuit court in chancery against Knut S. Ebro and the Norwegian Lutheran church to clear the title of the church property.

The society was incorporated March 4, 1892, and Charles A. Olson, N. C. Erickson and Andrew Simons were elected trustees. Previous to this time there had been another society under the same name which had made an attempt at incorporation, the signers of the articles being Lars H. Soloth, N. C. Erickson, C. A. Olson, Andrew Simons and others, to the number of fourteen, eight of whom were signers of the articles of the new society. It was decided at a meeting held in January that in case of a split in the church the property would belong to the parties remaining faithful to the articles they had signed. A church building was erected on the corner of West Broadway and Veto streets, and nearly paid for, when differences arose, and the result was a healthy church row.

The Rev. Nelson, pastor of the flock seemed to be the center of the dissatisfactions. It is claimed that he did not live up to the articles of the church and that those members who followed Mr. Newton are not legal members of the church. In March, 1892, it was discovered that the incorporation had not been correct and had the present society reincorporated and secured a quit-claim deed of the church. Since that time the Nelson faction has held meetings in the house and has broken down doors to gain access. The others now petition that an injunction be granted restraining the Nelson faction from using the building. Judge Adel has granted a temporary injunction and ordered defendants to show cause why it should not be made permanent.

Went Up for Sixty Days.
Anton Brower was in police court yesterday charged by Patrick Scally with embezzlement. He was employed by Scally last fall as a teamster, and collected $17.50 due Scally, who swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was released on his own recognizance, and at once departed. Yesterday he was fined $25 and costs, or sixty days in jail. He went to jail.
